POOL CHAMPIONSHIP

WON BY DE ORO

Victory Over Jerome Keogh at the Broadway Wins Title for Him.

Alfredo de Oro of New York City re-established his right to be called champion of the world, when he defeated Jerome Keogh of Buffalo at the Broadway last night, in one of the most sensational games ever played, by a score of 13 to 10.

De Oro appeared to be hopelessly beaten, when he pulled himself together near the fifty-point mark and by displaying every known trick of the game defeated his opponent.

At one stage of the game the score stood 10 to 5 in favor of Keogh. Right here is where the great Cuban brought his knowledge of the game to bear on his less experienced opponent.

De Oro coasted Keogh into playing a safety game and Keogh readily enough fell into the trap.

This is what practically beat Keogh, for had the Buffalo player gone ahead when he had an almost insurmountable lead and tried for the hard shots instead of playing them safe he would very likely have won.

The game was a fitting battle of champions, and it required the very last frame to decide the match.

KEOGH HAD LUCK.

Early in the game Keogh appeared to outkick the Cuban. The latter could not get his famous play down to his customary fine point, and he had to stand by and watch Keogh steadily away from him until after the hundred-point mark had been reached.

After that point the luck appeared to shift and go to De Oro. With luck and knowledge in his favor De Oro began to forge to the front, and Keogh did not make another frame during the play after he reached the 100 point.

When the game narrowed down to the last frame the men commenced a series of safety plays, each player using the "oil" four times.

Then De Oro thought he saw a shot. He missed and left Keogh safe. The men then sparred for another opening and De

EPISCOPAL RECTOR TURNS STONE MASON

The Reverend P. W. Fauntleroy Assists Laborers in the Reconstruction of Mount Calvary.

ONCE A PROMINENT ATTORNEY

Quits Profession and Becomes Minister From Desire to Be of Greater Service to His Fellow-Man.

To teach his flock the dignity of labor in a practical manner and incidentally to save a few dollars for the church treasury, the Reverend P. W. Fauntleroy, once a prominent lawyer and now rector of Mount Calvary Episcopal Church, has donned overalls and jumper, and may be seen daily assisting the stone masons in the work of reconstructing that house of worship.

Yesterday the rector laughingly admitted that he was not an expert at the business, but proudly pointed to a whole section of the foundation which he had built and for which he had also dug the trench. Dressed in blue overalls and jumper, a faded straw hat, shoes that were bespattered with mortar and hands that were fast becoming calloused from the hard task, one would scarcely recognize the pastor of the picturesque little church just opposite Lafayette Park, who attracts the elite of the South Side to his service every Sunday morning.

"You see," he said yesterday, as he edged the foundation stones with his trowel, "it takes money to build a church, and, as a rule, you can only count upon the few to donate. I'll do anything I can to help my parish along. I am not particularly busy just now, and I see no better way that I can occupy my time than to do what I can to erect this church as economically as possible. All the improvements you see about here have been made with only $8,000 at our disposal. As we get more money we will continue to improve."

About ten years ago Mr. Fauntleroy was one of the best-known attorneys in St. Louis and was fast gaining political prestige through his judiciously offered help when he started his friends by the announcement that he was about to enter the ministry.

"I did not quit law because I despised it," he said, "or because there was not enough in it, but I wished to do something for the betterment of those about me. I felt that as a minister I could be of more service to my fellow-men, and with this object in view I gave up law and became what I am."

Soon after his ordination in 1894 Mr. Fauntleroy was appointed rector of the Mount Calvary Episcopal Church, then located at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues.

This building was destroyed by the cyclone, which devastated a great portion of that section. At the time the present church, which had been abandoned, was pressed into service and has been utilized ever since.

Old English design, covered with moss and ivy and shaded by the trees, the little church presented a picturesque appearance and always invited the attention of passers-by.

The old front of brick has now been torn away, and in its stead is being erected one of Bedford rock with carriage stone trimmings. The side wall will remain as they are. The portion has been added which will increase the seating capacity by some twelve pews.

In the rear of the church a large brick auditorium, 52x50 feet, has been built and will be utilized for Sunday-school, bazaars and church socials. The basement of this building contains a large kitchen, sexton's room and heating plant. The church will be completed for dedication about Christmas.

NEW CITY MISSIONARY COMES.

Retiring Minister Has Served Seven Years in Work of Relief.

The Reverend F. W. Cornell, who for a number of years has been identified with the Episcopal Church in St. Louis in the capacity of city missionary, has resigned that office and will depart November 15 for the Province of Quebec, Canada, where he has accepted a regular pastorate. Mr. Cornell will be succeeded by the Reverend B. J. Ketchum of St. Charles, Mo.

The duties of the office require the missionary to visit the hospitals, jails and various other institutions of public charity and are considered "trying on one's constitution." Mr. Cornell has been performing these duties for about seven years and has received many encomiums upon the manner in which he has acquitted himself.

His successor is as yet only in deacon's orders, but will be ordained priest at the Southern Convocation of the Diocese of Missouri, which will convene at St. Charles, November 14.

Canon Smith, first assistant at Christ Church Cathedral, will depart for Ellensburg, Wash., November 15 also, but so far his successor has not been selected.

NEW PASTOR IS INSTALLED.

Doctor Russell Takes Formal Charge of West Presbyterian Church.

The formal installation of the Reverend Francis W. Russell as pastor of the West Presbyterian Church in St. Louis took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Reverend W. J. McKittick, moderator of the Presbytery of St. Louis, presided, and the sermon of the evening was preached by the Reverend Doctor Herriek Johnson of the McCormick Seminary, in which Doctor Russell made his studies for the ministry.

The charge to the pastor was delivered by the Reverend S. Howard Smith and the Reverend Doctor S. J. Nicolls delivered the charge to the congregation. Following the service an informal reception was held.

DEATH COMES TO MRS. T. W. BALMER

Long and Valuable Life Ends by Peacefully Passing Away.

NOTED FOR WORKS OF CHARITY

Wife of the Founder of Well-Known Music House in Which She Was a Partner.

MRS. TERESA WEBER BALMER, Who died Tuesday, at the age of 84 years.

Mrs. Teresa Weber Balmer, 84 years old, who was noted in St. Louis for her charity work, died at noon yesterday at her residence, No. 402 West Pine boulevard. Death was due to the infirmities of advanced age.

Mrs. Balmer, up to the time of her death, had always maintained good health for one of her age, and she passed from a peaceful sleep into death.

She was born in Coblenz, Germany, her father at that time being connected with the German court, and who emigrated to this country in 1836. Her father first bought a farm on the lower banks of the Missouri River, but a change in the course of the stream completely ruined the ground, and he moved to St. Louis in 1839.

Some time after she took up her residence here she married Charles Balmer, who was one of the most conspicuous music dealers of the West.

Mr. Balmer, in 1840, started the Balmer-Weber Music Company, which is still in existence on Olive street, taking Mrs. Balmer's brother as a partner.

She, until her death, had taken a great interest in this firm, her grandson-in-law, Charles Allen Cale, being the present manager.

Mrs. Balmer, in her youth, was considered to have an exceptionally fine soprano voice, and some of the older residents of the city can remember the time when she sang in concerts here for charitable benefits.

Mrs. Balmer is survived by five daughters and one son, all of her daughters having married men who are in some way connected with the music business.

Her son is Charles Balmer; her daughters are Mrs. Rosalie Smith, Mrs. George R. Yost, Mrs. Theresa Eyerman, Mrs. G. A. Bahn and Mrs. Charles F. Unger.

The funeral services will take place at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Reverend J. S. Jones, pastor of the Independent Evangelical Protestant Church, officiating.

The burial will take place in Bellefontaine cemetery, the pallbearers being Charles Unger, Alphonse Robb, Frank Hill, George Edwards, who was arrested Sunday by the St. Louis police on a charge of picking up a woman, and a woman, who was yesterday bound over to the Grand Jury by Justice Campbell.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY NOTES.

A meeting of the Grand Jury was held yesterday in Clayton, but the expected report to Judge McWhorter was not made. It was stated a month ago that the report would not be made until after the election. A large number of the jury members are absent, and it is said that the report might contain material detrimental to the interests of the party.

George Edwards, who was arrested Sunday by the St. Louis police on a charge of picking up a woman, and a woman, who was yesterday bound over to the Grand Jury by Justice Campbell.

Marriage licenses were issued in Clayton yesterday to Alfred B. Reynolds and Lulu Mae Moore, Fred Breckner and Mary E. Lincoln, and Mary C. Pohlman of Maplewood; James T. Lyman and Mabel A. K. K. of Kansas City; Fred Breckner and Mary E. Lincoln of St. Louis; and Charles K. K. K. of St. Louis.

The funeral services will take place at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Reverend J. S. Jones, pastor of the Independent Evangelical Protestant Church, officiating.

FOOTBALL MEN DISCUSS PLANS.

Meeting at Kulage's Park Discusses Possibilities of Soccer Sport.

Over 300 soccer players and their followers gathered at Kulage's Park last night to discuss football prospects for this season.

It was the consensus of opinion among the experts that football will have a revival in St. Louis this season and that the games will have a better attendance than they have for any time during the last decade.

The schedule for next Sunday's game was announced to be a double-header between the Schuyler Memorial High School and Women's Magazines and Dials.

Paul McWhorter was announced as official referee, and it was decided to hold a double-header for the rest of the season at the Kulage's grounds.

CORNWALL TO FIGHT STATTEN.

Local Pugilist Boxes Atlanta Man in Latter's Home Town.

Charley Cornwall, the local welter weight, is to have his first try as a principal in an out-of-town club. Evidently impressed by his recent victory over Julius Klein, Secretary B. S. Dunlap of the Atlanta Athletic Club has signed him for a match with Harry Statten.

The men are to go to fifteen rounds at 145 pounds on the evening of November 13. Cornwall will depart for the South in a day or two, and will spend a short time in Atlanta to become acclimated.

CHORISTERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Annual Reunion of Christ Church Cathedral Choir Held Last Night.

The annual reunion of Christ Church Cathedral choristers was held last night in the Schuyler Memorial House. About ninety choristers were present, and also participated in the services which were conducted in the church. The sermon for the occasion was preached by the Right Reverend Bishop Van Buren of Porto Rico.

Just before the evening service a luncheon was served in the basement room of Schuyler House.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Claude B. Ricketts; vice president, Bert Conley; secretary, Clarence Condie; treasurer, C. Simonet; director of music, H. H. Darby; historian, Linn Paine.

HOUSE CLEANING AT CITY HALL

Officials Are Getting Everything Spick and Span for Opening of Completed Structure.

House cleaning is on in the various offices of the City Hall, in preparation for the informal opening of the building to-morrow night. The hall has practically reached completion, and the new marble work in the rotunda has transformed the building into one of the finest public structures of the State.

The present city administration has been active in bringing the building to completion, more progress having been made in the last year than in any previous period of the same length. With the installation of the marble work in the rotunda, the entire interior of the building has been painted and decorated, so that it presents a new appearance throughout.

The hall will appear at its best to-morrow night, the different city officials vying with each other to have their respective offices look the most attractive. Dusters and brooms were used freely yesterday, and the installation of decorations will begin this morning. Electric lights have been strung along the drive from Thirteenth street to the entrance on that side, those coming by carriages using that route.

It is the purpose of the city officials to make the dedication as informal as possible, and so far as planned Mayor Wells, under whose active administration the tedious job was finished, will be the only speaker. The ceremonies will be in the rotunda on the main floor. There will be an hour's reception here and music will be furnished by two orchestras. Following the general gathering will be receptions in the various offices.

The dedication is public and the task of sending out 70,000 invitations would have been so great that the officials mailed but a few to the heads of large industries, asking them to assist in extending verbal requests to be present. Those who have not been invited are expected to attend anyway, as the whole affair is to be made as public and informal as possible, without any regard to partisan or class feeling.

No show windows in the city are attracting as much attention as the show windows of the big stove store on Sixth street, near Locust. These windows are arranged different and are different from anything else ever shown in St. Louis. One should see them to appreciate their originality.

NEGRO GETS A CONTINUANCE.

Criminal Matters Are Passed Upon by Circuit Court at Belleville.

William Thomas, a negro, was granted a continuance in the Circuit Court at Belleville yesterday until the January term of court. He is charged with murdering Edna Martin, a negro. He stabbed her, on the East St. Louis viaduct, and then walked on her head. The continuance was granted on the ground that he had no attorney to defend him.

Robert, alias "Red," Henin was convicted on the charge of well-being yesterday of assaulting David Lewis in the Trabant saloon at Edgemoor on September 28, and was sentenced to the Penitentiary at Chester. Henin cut Lewis in the throat.

James Langford, a negro, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon on another negro, and was sentenced to thirty days in jail.

I got so bad that I could not eat anything that did not distress me terribly and I was obliged to stop taking the doctor's treatment entirely. I was greatly reduced in flesh. As a last resort I wrote to you and stated my case, and after receiving your instructions I followed them closely. After taking five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' I commenced to improve, and decided to continue the medicines and observe your instructions regarding hygienic treatment. It is now nearly six months since I commenced your treatment and I can say that I am well and never felt better in my life. Am very grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."
